NIXON'S GREAT SOUTHERN CIRCUS,

OPENING OF THE GRAND AMPHITHEATRS,

MONDAY, DEC. 18.

The proprietor of the Great Southern Circus, not having appeared in this city with his troops since his great equestrian success at Nislo's in 1880, has now the pleasure of presenting to the public an entertainment of such magnitude and splendor as will eclipse the attractions of all former efforts, and place his trough immensurably above and beyond all attempts at rivalry in this civ. The opportunity at present of ferced for securing the most distinguished riders and gymnasts of the age, together with the prevailing taste for this popular species of public amanement, have determined the selection of the central and convenient locality on Broadway opposite the New York Holel. The building has been thoroughly renited and transformed into a magnificent amphitheatre.

The following are among the principal artists engaged:—
